CITY CONSIDERED

FOR G. T. SHOP

Rumor Has it That Agents of Railroad Were in City Monday to Secure Data on Possibilities of Mashawaka.

It was rumored about the streets of the city Monday evening that agents of the Grand Trunk railroad were in the city looking up the advantages offered by Mashawaka in case that concern should intend to locate its shops in the city.

It is known that the company does not intend to rebuild those shops at Port Huron where the old ones were destroyed and it is well known that the corporation is looking into the advantages of other cities along the right of way between Chicago and Port Huron.

Besides Mashawaka, Kalamazoo and South Bend have been mentioned. Both of these cities are offering glaring inducements for the shops to take up residence in their confines, but there have been several reasons advanced why they will not be built in either city. In case they do not Mashawaka is believed to be the next place under consideration and the rumor of the company's agents being in the city was therefore given much credence.

MO. SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS LAND SUIT

Atty. William N. Bergan has just received word that the case of Prof. William G. Schroeder against Aurelius C. Turpin in the matter of misrepresentation of land in a realty deal, has been affirmed in the supreme court of Missouri. The case has been pending for the past six years. The suit involved about 1,500 acres of land in Missouri which, it is alleged, Schroeder was induced to trade with some land in St. Joseph county, for lands in other places.

It is alleged that after the trade Schroeder discovered his new acquisition had little or no value. Turpin, who resided in Chicago, refused to recover the Missouri land and Schroeder brought suit in Missouri courts to set aside the conveyance. Schroeder died about four years ago.

CAN'T FIND WORK BOY TAKES POISON

Race to Hospital Saves Life of Despondent Youth Who Has Taken Arsenic.

Discouraged because he was unable to get a job after weeks of vain searching, William Klukowski, 29, drank the contents of a vial of arsenic early Tuesday morning at the home of his sister, Mrs. Stephen Widawski, 905 W. Perkins st. He was discovered prostrate in the kitchen by his sister and was rushed to the Epworth hospital in the ambulance. Prompt measures by the physicians probably saved his life.

Klukowski had been despondent for several weeks. He had not worked for nearly three months, having lost job at the Singer factory. When he arose Tuesday morning he told his sister, with whom he had been staying, that he had no friends and would rather die than live.

Mrs. Widawski left the house a few minutes afterward and when she returned she found his body on the kitchen floor, beside it the empty vial.

Mrs. Widawski said her brother had made daily application at all of the local factories and in Grand Rapids but was unable to secure work.

FIGHTING DAN IN COURT AGAIN

For the third time within less than a year Daniel Hildebrand, a farmer, has been ordered before Judge Funk to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court.

The order was issued Tuesday and deputy sheriffs left Tuesday noon for the farm southwest of the city of which it is charged, Hildebrand has again taken possession in spite of the court's express order.

Hildebrand, whose militant attitude has earned him the title of "Fighting Dan", was recently released after serving 30 days in the county jail for contempt.

Hildebrand was dispossessed of a farm through an action on a note of Andrew Diermeyer's on which he was security, brought by the Merchants' National Bank. He refused to vacate and on being ordered before the court for the second time for contempt he was sent to jail. In the meantime the sheriff's deputies had moved his goods from the farm to another across the road of which Hildebrand is the owner.

Early this week it was learned that he had moved back on the farm, according to the bank attorneys. He will appear to answer to the charge on Thursday.

Each time Hildebrand answers to the charge of contempt: "Well, it's my farm and I won't let anybody take it away from me." Hildebrand claims the note which he signed was raised.

LAWRENCE KUEZEL DIES.

Lawrence Kuezel, 87 years old, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. T. Puelhman, 509 N. Hill st., Tuesday morning at 4 o'clock, after an illness that has been coming on for several years. Goffney will officiate at the funeral service and burial will be made in the City cemetery.
